From the SAN Board President:

Later Impressions 2009 celebrates the accomplishments of artists participating in the nineteenth annual Senior Artists Network (SAN) Later Impressions competition. This exhibition features 50 works of art, selected from 150 entries. These artists bring a rich and diverse array of two- and three-dimensional pieces that speak to their personal, imagined, and observed experiences. Exhibiting their artwork together highlights their collective vision, and inspires all those who see it.

SAN's mission to promote and foster the creative efforts of artists over the age of fifty has brought about a successful and important venue for Chicago area artists. It is an organization that assists senior artists seeking to exhibit their work and reach audiences that will appreciate their talents.

Over the past five years SAN has been moving along into the digital age. The SAN website and Facebook page keep members informed about exhibitions and opportunities, and we've replaced our printed newsletters with timely email alerts.

The Renaissance Court Gallery has once again generously offered the space for the Later Impressions 2009 exhibition. The City of Chicago has truly supported SAN to make this exhibit possible, and through funding has helped the work of the organization.

I would also like to recognize the contributions of the SAN Board, who work throughout the year to keep the organization running. We appreciate the efforts of the volunteers who have assisted in making the show a success, especially Doris Chan, Kathi Beste, Grace Lai, Cathy Cajandig, John Meapaa, Helen Smith, and Elaine Engelhardt. Thanks to our jurors Kathleen Gibbons, Kathi Beste, and Jackie Zevin who thoughtfully chose a well-balanced, high caliber show for SAN.
