

LATER IMPRESSIONS 2010

From the SAN Board President:

Later Impressions 2010 celebrates the accomplishments of artists participating in the nineteenth annual Senior Artists Network (SAN) competition. This exhibition features 45 works of art, selected from 120 entries. These artists bring a rich and diverse array of two and three dimensional pieces that speak to their personal, imagined and observed experiences. Exhibiting their artwork brings together their collective vision which inspires those who see it.

SAN's mission to promote and foster the creative efforts of artists over the age of fifty, has brought about a successful and important venue for Chicago area artists. It is an organization that assists senior artists seeking to exhibit their work and reach audiences that will appreciate their talents.

Over the past few years SAN has been moving along into the digital age. The SAN website keeps members informed about exhibitions and opportunities. It also features on-line versions of all of our exhibitions.

This year we have two special projects to support the organization through these tough economic times. The Grace Lai Memorial Fund, which supports the annual Members Show, will present artwork for auction during the exhibit. And the fun Mini Masterpieces project features tiny artwork by SAN artists and supporters available for a small donation. We hope you will bid or donate and have some original SAN artwork on your walls very soon.

The Renaissance Court Gallery has once again generously offered the space for the Later Impressions 2010 exhibition. The City of Chicago has truly supported SAN to make this exhibit possible, and through funding has helped the work of the organization.

I would also like to recognize the contributions of the SAN Board, who work throughout the year to keep the organization running. We appreciate the efforts of the volunteers who have assisted in making the show a success, especially Kathi Beste, Willa Bryer-Douglas, Marjorie Derrah, Cathy Cajandig, John Meapaa, Julia Oehmke, Patricia O'Malley, Willa Bryer-Douglas, Robert Proce, and John Zachary.

We appreciate the efforts of our jurors Mike Barrett Kolasinski, James Hajicek, and Gina Ordaz, who thoughtfully chose a well-balanced, high caliber show for SAN.
